

Revisions: Essential Skills, 13th Edition

The Cambridge Victory publications involve the collaborative effort of skilled test preparation writers, experienced educators, and trained editors to produce a product that effectively prepares students for test day. We work hard to create accurate, error-free materials, but occasionally we make mistakes. Please see the corrections below and notify your students of these changes when you present this item in class:

Page	For	Read
570, Student Text	English and Writing Intermediate Exercise 2 #46	H
92, Teacher's Guide	#46	46. Which choice is supported by the information given in the graph(s)? F. NO CHANGE G. less than four times H. more than four times J. DELETE the underlined portion 46. (H) ORG 20–27 According to the right-hand graph, by the time the project was completed in 1991 (having reached the planned 42,500 miles), the total cost was approximately $130 billion (the federal portion of which was about $115 billion). The Highway Act allocated $25 billion federal dollars to the system. When it had reached 42,500 miles in 1991, the federal share of the cost was approximately $115 billion dollars. This is more than four times the original expected cost, (H).
47, Student Text 68, Teacher's Guide	#203	203. When a honey bee stings a person it leaves behind not only the stinger, but also part of its abdomen, digestive tract, muscles, and nerves. A. NO CHANGE B. person it leaves behind, not only the stinger but C. person it leaves behind not only the stinger but D. person, it leaves behind not only the stinger but
131–132, Student Text 191, Teacher's Guide	Indefinite Pronouns	By grammatical convention, the following pronouns are considered singular and take singular verbs: “anyone,” “no one,” “anybody,” “everybody,” “anything,” “everything” “each,” “either,” “neither,” and “every.” Subjects such as “all,” “any,” “most,” “none,” and “some” can take either singular or plural verbs depending on what they are referring to and the overall sense of the sentence.